1. Introduction

- 1.1. The aim of this policy is to set out how OWN Trust will deal with concerns raised by employees which relate to suspected wrongdoing or dangers at work.
- 1.2. Allegations of child abuse against teachers and other employees and volunteers will be dealt with in accordance with 'Keeping Children Safe in Education' - statutory guidance for schools and colleges.

2. Background

- 2.1. The requirement to have clear whistle-blowing procedures in place is set out in the Academy Trust Handbook.
- 2.2. This policy has been written in line with the above document, as well as government guidance on whistle-blowing. We also take into account the Public Interest Disclosure Act 1998.
- 2.3. This policy complies with our funding agreement and articles of association.
- 2.4. As employees may be the first to realise that there may be something wrong within the Trust, it is important that they feel able to express their concerns without fear of harassment or victimisation. Otherwise, they may find it easier to ignore the concern rather than report it.
- 2.5. The Trust is committed to the highest possible standard of operation, probity and accountability. In line with that commitment, employees, officers, consultants, contractors, volunteers, casual workers and agency workers with serious concerns are encouraged to come forward and voice those concerns. This procedure makes it clear that employees can do so without fear of reprisals.

3. Aims of this Policy:

3.1. This policy aims to:

- 3.1.1. Encourage individuals affected to report suspected wrongdoing as soon as possible in the knowledge that their concerns will be taken seriously and investigated, and that their confidentiality will be respected.
- 3.1.2. Let all staff in the trust know how to raise concerns about potential wrongdoing in or by the trust.
- 3.1.3. Set clear procedures for how the trust will respond to such concerns.
- 3.1.4. Let all staff know the protection available to them if they raise a whistle-blowing concern.
- 3.1.5. Assure staff that they will not be victimised for raising a legitimate concern through the steps set out in the policy, even if they turn out to be mistaken (though vexatious or malicious concerns may be considered a disciplinary issue).

3.2. This policy does not form part of any employee's contract of employment and may be amended at any time. The policy applies to all employees or other workers who provide services to the trust in any capacity including self-employed consultants or contractors who provide services on a personal basis and agency workers.

3.3. Whistle-blowing covers concerns made that report wrongdoing that is "in the public interest". Examples of whistle-blowing include (but are not limited to):

- 3.3.1. Criminal offences, such as fraud or corruption.
- 3.3.2. Pupils' or staff health and safety being put in danger.
- 3.3.3. Failure to comply with a legal obligation or statutory requirement.
- 3.3.4. Breaches of financial management procedures.
- 3.3.5. Attempts to cover up the above, or any other wrongdoing in the public interest.
- 3.3.6. Damage to the environment.

- 3.4. A whistle-blower is a person who raises a genuine concern relating to the above.
- 3.5. Not all concerns about the trust count as whistle-blowing. For example, personal staff grievances such as bullying or harassment do not usually count as whistle-blowing. If something affects a staff member as an individual, or relates to an individual employment contract, this is likely a grievance.
- 3.6. When staff have a concern, they should consider whether it would be better to follow our staff grievance or complaints procedures.
- 3.7. Protect (formerly Public Concern at Work) has further guidance on the difference between a whistle-blowing concern and a grievance that staff may find useful if unsure and a free and confidential advice line
- 3.8. Before initiating the procedure, employees should consider the following:
- 3.8.1. The responsibility for expressing concerns about unacceptable practice or behaviour rests with all employees.
  - 3.8.2. Employees should use line manager or team meetings and other opportunities to raise questions and seek clarification on issues that are of day-to-day concern.
  - 3.8.3. Whilst it can be difficult to raise concerns about the practice or behaviour of a colleague, employees must act to prevent an escalation of the problem and to prevent themselves from being potentially implicated.
- 3.9. This procedure should not be used for complaints about an employee's personal circumstances, such as the way they have been treated at work. In these cases, an employee should use the Trust's grievance procedure (or anti-harassment and bullying policy as appropriate). If the matter relates to salary, the salary review procedures are documented in the Trust's Pay Policy.

4. Safeguards

4.1. Harassment or Victimisation

- 4.1.1. The Trust recognises that the decision to report a concern can be a difficult one to make, not least because of the fear of reprisal from those responsible for the malpractice. The Trust will not tolerate harassment or victimisation and will take action to protect employees when they have a genuine concern.

4.1.2. This does not mean that if an employee is already the subject of internal procedures such as disciplinary or redundancy, that those procedures will necessarily be halted because of that employee raising a concern under the whistleblowing procedure.

4.2. Confidentiality

4.2.1. The Trust hopes that employees will feel able to voice whistleblowing concerns openly under this procedure. The Trust will make every effort to protect an employee's identity if confidentiality is requested.

4.2.2. As indicated above, identity will be protected as far as possible but should the investigation into the concern require the employee to be named as the source of the information, that this will be discussed with the employee before their name is disclosed.

4.3. Anonymous Allegations

4.3.1. Employees are encouraged to put their name to an allegation. Proper investigation may be more difficult or impossible if we cannot obtain further information and it is also more difficult to establish whether allegations are credible. Anonymous allegations will be considered at the discretion of the Trust. In exercising the discretion, the factors to be considered would include:

- The seriousness of the issues raised
- The credibility of the concern
- Likelihood of confirming the allegation from attributable sources

4.4. False Allegations

4.4.1. If an employee makes an allegation where they have a genuine concern, but it is not confirmed by the investigation, no action will be taken against that employee. If, however, we conclude that an employee has made malicious or vexatious allegations, or with a view to personal gain, disciplinary action may be taken against that employee.

4.5. Unfounded Allegations

4.5.1. Following an investigation, allegations may be confirmed as unfounded. This outcome will be notified to the employee who raised the concern, who will be informed that the Trust deems the matter to be concluded and that it should not be raised again unless new evidence becomes available.

4.6. Support for Employees

4.6.1. It is recognised that raising concerns can be difficult and stressful. Advice and support will be made available, as appropriate to both the employee/s raising the concerns and any employee/s subject to investigation.

5. Raising a Concern

- 5.1. School-based staff should report their concern to the headteacher. If the concern is about the headteacher, or it is believed they may be involved in the wrongdoing in some way, the staff member should report their concern to the CEO. If the CEO is involved in any way this should then be reported to the Chair of Trustees.
- 5.2. Central team staff should report their concern to the CEO. If the concern is about the CEO/other executive leader, or it is believed they may be involved in the wrongdoing in some way, the central team staff should report the concern to the chair of trustees.
- 5.3. An employee (including the Chief Executive Officer and members of the leadership team) can bypass the direct management line and the Board of Trustees if they feel the overall management and Board of Trustees of the Trust is engaged in an improper course of action. In this case, please refer to section 7 below.
- 5.4. Concerns are better raised in writing. The employee should set out the background and history of the concerns, giving names, dates and places where possible, and the reasons why they are particularly concerned about the situation. If an employee does not feel able to put the concern in writing, they should telephone or meet the appropriate person. However, it is important that when the concern is raised, the employee makes it clear that they are raising the issue via the whistleblowing procedure.
- 5.5. The earlier an employee expresses the concern, the easier it is to take action.
- 5.6. Although an employee is not expected to prove the truth of an allegation, they will need to demonstrate to the person contacted that there are sufficient grounds for the concern.
- 5.7. In some instances, it may be appropriate for an employee to ask the trade union to raise a matter on the employee's behalf.

5.8. At each meeting under this procedure, the employee may bring a colleague or trade union representative. The companion must respect the confidentiality of the disclosure and any subsequent investigation.

6. The Role of Senior Managers

6.1. A senior manager may be informed by an employee about concern/s and that they are "blowing the whistle" within the procedure in person, or in writing or over the phone.

6.2. The senior manager should respond immediately and arrange for a stage 1 meeting to take place with the employee as soon as possible.

6.3. Stage 1:

6.3.1. At the initial meeting the senior manager should establish that:

- There is genuine cause and sufficient grounds for the concern
- The concern has been appropriately raised via the whistleblowing procedure

6.3.2. The manager conducting this meeting should ask the employee, to put their concern/s in writing, if they have not already done so. If the employee is unable to do this, the manager will take down a written summary of their concern/s and provide them with a copy after the meeting. The manager should make notes of the discussions with the employee. The employee's letter and/or manager's notes should make it clear that the employee is raising the issue via the whistleblowing procedure and provide:

- The background and history of the concerns
- Names, dates and places (where possible)
- The reasons why the employee is particularly concerned about the situation

6.3.3. The employee should be asked to date and sign their letter and/or the notes of any discussion. The manager should positively encourage the employee to do this, as a concern expressed anonymously is much less powerful and much more difficult to address, especially if the letter/notes become evidence in other proceedings, e.g. an internal disciplinary hearing.

6.3.4. The manager should follow the policy as set out above and explain to the employee:

- To whom they will need to speak to determine the next steps
- What steps they intend to take to address the concern

- How they will communicate with the employee during and at the end of the process. It should be noted that the need for confidentiality may prevent the Trust from giving the employee specific details of any necessary investigation or any necessary disciplinary action taken as a result
- That the employee will receive a written response within 10 working days
- That their identity will be protected as far as possible, but should the investigation into the concern require the employee to be named as the source of the information, that this will be discussed with the employee before their name is disclosed
- That the Trust will do all that it can to protect the employee from discrimination and/or victimisation
- That the matter will be taken seriously and investigated immediately
- That if the employee's concern, though raised as a genuine concern, is not confirmed by the investigation, no punitive action will be taken against them
- If clear evidence is uncovered during the investigation that they have made a malicious or vexatious allegation, disciplinary action may be taken against them
- The investigation may confirm their allegations to be unfounded in which case the Trust will deem the matter to be concluded unless new evidence becomes available

6.4. Stage 2:

6.4.1. Following the initial meeting with the employee, the headteacher/CEO will determine whether an investigation is appropriate and, if so, what form it should take. A record should be made of the decisions and/or agreed actions.

6.4.2. It may be necessary, with anonymous allegations, to consider whether it is possible to take any further action. When making this decision, the headteacher should take the following factors into account:

- The seriousness of the issue/s raised
- The credibility of the concern/s
- The likelihood of confirming the allegation/s from attributable sources

6.4.3. In some cases, it may be possible to resolve the concern/s simply, by agreed action or an explanation regarding the concern/s, without the need for further investigation. However, depending on the nature of the concern/s it may be necessary for the concern/s to:

- Be investigated internally
- Be referred to the LADO
- Be referred to the police
- Be referred to the external auditor
- Form the subject of an independent inquiry

6.4.4. Senior managers dealing with whistleblowing cases should have a working knowledge and understanding of other Trust procedures, e.g. grievance, disciplinary, harassment and child protection procedures, to ensure that concerns raised by employees are addressed via the appropriate procedure.

7. Outcome of the investigation

7.1. Once the investigation – whether this was just the initial investigation of the concern, or whether further investigation was needed – is complete, the investigating person(s) will prepare a report detailing the findings and confirming whether or not any wrongdoing has occurred. The report will include any recommendations and details on how the matter can be rectified and whether or not a referral is required to an external organisation, such as the local authority or police.

- 7.2. They will inform the person who raised the concern of the outcome of the investigation, though certain details may need to be restricted due to confidentiality.
- 7.3. Beyond the immediate actions, the CEO, trustees and other staff, if necessary, will review the relevant policies and procedures to prevent future occurrences of the same wrongdoing.
- 7.4. Whilst we cannot always guarantee the outcome sought, we will try to deal with concerns fairly and in an appropriate way.

8. Raising Concerns Outside the Trust

8.1. The aim of this procedure is to provide an internal mechanism for reporting, investigating and remedying any wrongdoing in the workplace. In most cases, the employee should not find it necessary to alert anyone externally. The law recognises that in some circumstances it may be appropriate for the employee to report their concerns to an external body, such as a regulator. It will very rarely, if ever, be appropriate to alert the media. Employees are strongly encouraged to seek advice before reporting a concern to anyone external. If an employee is not satisfied with the Trust's response, the person dealing with the case should ensure that they are made aware with whom they may raise the matter externally:

- 'Protect' - 0203 117 2520*
- Recognised trade union
- Senior LA officer
- External auditor
- Relevant professional bodies or regulatory organisations
- Solicitor
- Police

*Protect is a registered charity that employees can contact for advice to assist them in raising concerns about poor practice at work. The charity also provides advice to employers as to the possible ways to address these concerns.

8.2. Concerns about safeguarding practices can be raised externally using the NSPCC whistleblowing helpline. Employees can call 0800 028 0285 or email help@nspcc.org.uk.
